NoSQLButton (Disabled SQL Query Window) - Trigger Find Script

Older customers of SedonaOffice may have had their SQL Query Window Button disabled from within the application for all users. Despite attempts for an admin to enable the SQL Query Window it would simply untick on Save.

You can use the following Script to locate all triggers (there shouldn't be many)

SELECT
    t.name AS TriggerName,
    s.name AS SchemaName,
    o.name AS TableName
FROM sys.triggers t
JOIN sys.objects o
    ON t.parent_id = o.object_id
JOIN sys.schemas s
    ON o.schema_id = s.schema_id
WHERE t.parent_class_desc = 'OBJECT_OR_COLUMN'
ORDER BY s.name, o.name, t.name;

You will want to look for a Trigger named NoSQLButton or associated with SY_User_Group_Acc_Detail

The screenshot shows the SQL Server Enterprise Manager interface. On the left, the server tree is expanded to show the 'dbo' schema, with 'SY_User_Group_Acc_Detail' selected. The 'Triggers' folder is expanded, showing a trigger named 'NoSQLButton'. On the right, a SQL query is displayed in the query editor:

SELECT
    t.name AS TriggerName,
    s.name AS SchemaName,
    o.name AS TableName
FROM sys.triggers t
JOIN sys.objects o
    ON t.parent_id = o.object_id
JOIN sys.schemas s
    ON o.schema_id = s.schema_id
WHERE t.parent_class_desc = 'OBJECT_OR_COLUMN'
ORDER BY s.name, o.name, t.name;

Below the query editor, the 'Results' pane shows the output of the query as a table:

	TriggerName	SchemaName	TableName
18	OE_JobDispatch_Trigger	dbo	OE_Job_Dispatch
19	KS_SedonaSync_Appointme...	dbo	OP_Appointment
